A. COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Independent Study in Communications is a 1 credit hour course in which students develop a minor media and communications project. Students propose the form, content, resources, and schedule of projects for this course. Projects usually require a total of 40 hours to complete. The project may take various forms and students should consult with the professor in advance of registering. This course may only be taken only with the permission of the Communications and Media Department.

B. COURSE OBJECTIVES

Each student will prepare and present a project according to the following guidelines:

1. Each student must develop a proposal which describes the project, and have it approved by the professor. The proposal must be typed, double-spaced, and free from grammatical and spelling errors.
2. The project must be relevant to the field of communications and media.
3. The final project/report must be submitted in a timely manner as determined by the professor.

C. GRADING SUMMARY

Upon completion of the course requirements, the student will be granted 1 credit hour.
